Installation notes

~ Run the zebra setup file either the 32 bit version or the 64 bit version as per your system specifications.

~ Make sure that you do not untick python or the python launcher installation.

~ Specify the installation location. Avoid installing in the system drive (generally C:\). Although you can install in the system drive, but then you may have to run cmd as administrator. Better install in another drive.

~ Proceed with the installation.

~ Packages matplotlib, numpy and pyserial are not installed during the current installation process. Refer to the user manual for the installation of these packages.

~ Proceed with the installation.
